OFFICIALS FILE REPORT ON RECENT LYNCHING

Gov. Ansel Receives Letters From Sheriff of Lexington and Coroner of Newberry.

The State, 29th.

Officers of Lexington and Newberry county yesterday made reports to Gov. Ansel on the lynching of the negro, Henry Cark, which occurred near Little Mountain on Friday night. There were reports from Sheriff Corley, of Lexington county, and Coroner Felker, of Newberry county. Sheriff Buford, of Newberry county has not as yet filed his report.

Letter From Sheriff.

The letter of Sheriff Corley is as follows:

"On Friday afternoon a terrible murder was committed in the Dutch Fork section of this county, the victim being a little school girl, 14 years of age, and the perpetrator, a negro. At the time the crime was committed I was in the city of Columbia and did not learn of the trouble until I reached home at 6 p. m.

"As soon as I was informed of what had happened I spared no expense in getting to the scene as quickly as possible. I immediately secured an automobile and arrived at the home of the father of the murdered girl at about 8.30 o'clock. I found a large posse of armed men, possibly 500 strong, and I at once made an investigation. The negro had already been captured and spirited away in the woods. I used every means at my command to find out the whereabouts

Showing What Small Savings Will Do In The Aggregate

The largest railway company in this country recently borrowed fifty million dollars, on its bonds, from the people of France. This is remarkable, owing to similar loans made by same people to other countries, about the same time. Where do the French people get all of this money? Jno. D. Rockefeller, after returning from one of his trips to Paris, tells the secret in seven words: "The people of France save their money." YOU cannot afford to take any unnecessary risk with your hard-earned savings. During these prosperous times the temptation to invest in some form of speculation is very great. All sorts of inducements are offered, and, unless great caution is exercised, errors are likely to be made which will prove costly. The shrewd investor does not put his money into every scheme presented which promises large returns, or into some speculation guaranteed to return you something for nothing; rather he is satisfied with ABSOLUTE SECURITY for both PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST such as is afforded by this Bank.

Would it not be well for you to begin saving NOW, according to the policy of the French people? Your account, large or small will be welcomed. Make a START RIGHT AWAY by coming in and talking over your interests with our Cashier.

of the negro and urged the crowd to turn the man over to me, assuring them I would use all my efforts to have a speedy trial. However, I failed to get any information, not even as to who had the negro in charge.

"The negro, Flute Clark, was lynched at about 10.30 o'clock. When the shooting commenced, I was about a mile from the scene and by the time I reached the spot, the parties had dispersed. The crime was committed in Lexington county, while the lynching occurred in Newberry county. I assure you I did all in my power to uphold the majesty of the law."

Report From Coroner.

The report of Coroner Felker, of Newberry county is, in part, as follows:

"It was reported to me this morning (November 26), that a negro, one Flute Clark, had been killed near Little Mountain, in Lexington county, on Friday night. About 11 o'clock this morning I received a message from Little Mountain that the killing had taken place in Newberry county instead of in Lexington.

"Upon inquiry at Little Mountain over the phone, I found that the magistrate at that place, B. B. Davis, was then holding the inquest. Therefore, I did not go, since it was 19 miles and the magistrate very likely would have finished holding the inquest before I could have reached there. The reported point of killing is so near the line that no one here seemed to know in which county the killing occurred. The verdict of the jury, as I hear, is that the deceased came to his death at the hands of unknown parties. I have written Mr. Davis to mail me the testimony at once, and when received will forward copy to you."

Life in Nova Zembla.

The Russian government has recently given attention to the development of the northern portions of its empire especially the Island of Nova Zembla in the Arctic ocean, which, only a few years ago, was inhabited by but fifty souls.

The governor of the province of Archangel induced eight Samoyede families to emigrate thither. All their wants were supplied with the greatest care, according to the official reports, and much attention was lavished upon them.

The Russian's solicitude for the Samoyedes of Nova Zembla extended even to such details as the following: The settlers included a brother and sister, both grown, and in answer to the usual queries as to what articles they stood in need of, one requested, among other things, a wife and the other a husband.

As these were not forth coming, with the consent of the parents, the authorities brought out with them a bridegroom and a bride. Each having been introduced to his or her destined partner, the authorities allowed them an hour to become better acquainted with each other. After the lapse of which the weddings were immediately to take place.

The young Nova Zemblan was much pleased with the bride the obliging authorities had brought him, and she in her turn with him.

To the query put to the bride as to the young man, she replied, "Oh, he'll do. He's a real Samoyede." So the business in respect of that couple was soon over.

But not so with the other. The Nova Zemblan bride would have nothing to do with a bridegroom of the Russian authorities' choosing.

"He a Samoyede!" she exclaimed, indignantly. "He's never killed a white bear! Why, my little brother, who is only 11 years old, has killed several, and I myself have shot over a score of wild deer! And what has he been doing? Killing tame reindeer! No, I won't have him!"

She was as good as her word, so that the match making of the Russian officer was not altogether a success. The unlucky bridegroom could only pull a long face and retire. There was no help for it, and the authorities confined themselves to one wedding.—Harper's Weekly.

Waiting to See What Happens.

Governor-elect Cole Blease was quoted in an Associated Press dispatch last week as approving of racing, and the dispatch went on to state that a new $100,000 track would be ready in Charleston by next spring and that the Jacksonville, Fla., races would be held at Charleston, racing in Jacksonville being prohibited after January 1, 1911. Mr. Blease referred to a bill he introduced in the senate while a member, prohibiting betting at horse races in answer to the telegraphed statement. All of which is mighty interesting and we will wait

The News and Courier says that the Clarendon county girls are prizes themselves. Now The Herald and News would take nothing from the Clarendon girls, and would give them all that was going to them, but it is not absolutely uncertain that the News and Courier did not write Newberry and the linotype man put it Clarendon to the oversight of the proof-reader.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT AND DISCHARGE.

All persons holding claims against the estate of James C. Davis, deceased, are hereby requested to render same, duly attested to the undersigned, or my attorneys, Blease & Dominik, on or before the first day of January, 1911, and all parties indebted to the said estate will make immediate settlement. Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will make final settlement on the said estate on the 8th day of February, 1911, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, and will immediately thereafter apply to the Probate Judge for Newberry county for her final discharge as Administratrix of the said estate.

to buy a home of their own. He owned a business, made money, but could not take enough money out of the business to buy a home.

So the household and personal expenses were cut down. The money went into the savings department of a bank.

His savings, together with the interest earned, in time became enough to make the first payment on the new home. What he formerly spent as rent is now taking care of the balance due.

He is still saving. Found that he could save, that he needs a reserve fund, which might protect him sometime if his business affairs required it.

No matter how prosperous you may be, you should have a reserve fund to protect you in case of emergency.

The best place for that fund is in this bank, where we pay four per cent in the savings department, interest compounded semi-annually, January and July.
